

CHICAGOAN VICTIM OF AUTO CRASH AT ROAD DETOUR

J. Kirbach Dies in Accident on Highway 59—Car
Skids at Baracade.

A verdict of "accidental death" was returned at noon yesterday by the coroner's jury investigating the death of John Kirbach, 62, who died Tuesday night when the car in which he was riding crashed at the pavement gap on route 59, a short distance southwest of Antioch. The coroner's jury recommended that a red light be placed at the point where the accident happened, to warn other motorists who are unfamiliar with the newly paved road.

John Kirbach, 62 year old Chicagoan, 1926 Cleveland avenue, father of four children, is thought to have been killed instantly at six o'clock Tuesday evening, when the car driven by Alfonso Taubensee, 5241 Melville avenue, skidded on the icy road at the pavement end on route 59 a short distance from Antioch. The pavement gap was left because the fill at this point is high and had not sufficiently settled, to permit paving last summer. At this place a baracade and detour sign were placed.

Kirbach's Body Crushed

The car, a Nash touring, is thought to have turned over just after leaving the pavement, although witnesses living at the scene of the accident found the car right side up, with Kirbach's dead body in the front seat. He had suffered internal injuries that caused immediate death, according to Dr. Warriner, who examined the man shortly after the accident. The driver, Alfonso Taubensee, escaped with minor injuries.

His injuries were dressed by Dr. Warriner of Antioch and he was then taken to the county jail by Deputy Huber of Antioch. After being questioned by Sheriff Lawrence A. Donnelly, Taubensee was released with instructions to attend the inquest into the death of Kirbach.

Driver Not Speeding

Taubensee told Sheriff Donnelly and Deputy Huber that he was unaware that the entire Fox Lake road was not paved so had not slackened his speed. He said, however, that he was not traveling at an excessive rate of speed, going between 25 and 30 miles an hour at the time. Taubensee said that if it was not for the heavy coating of ice on the road he

TIFFANY'S SON GOOD WRESTLER

A. N. Tiffany, collector of internal revenue for the Lake and McHenry county district, is one of the proudest men in the city these days as a result of the showing of his son, Albert, 154 pounds, on the University of Wisconsin wrestling team.

In the recent meet against Iowa, his son wrestled Jarrard to a hard fought draw.

The story of the bout, which appeared in a Wisconsin paper, follows: "In a fast bout, Albert Tiffany's struggle with Jarrard was called a draw. They started at a fast pace, faster than any of the preceding matches. Early in the match, Jarrard got the advantage and had Tiffany in bad shape but the latter finally succeeded in breaking away and took the offensive to give his opponent a bit of his own medicine. At the end of the allotted time, Jarrard had a forty second advantage, not enough to give the match and they wrestled through two overtime periods. The referee called it a draw to end the festivities.—Waukegan Daily News.

WOMEN LAUNCH CAMPAIGN FOR BETTER HOMES

One Hundred Thousand Women Will Help In Home Improvement.

Chicago, Jan. 25.—One hundred thousand club women, under the direction of the Illinois Federation of Women's clubs, are preparing to launch a state-wide campaign to improve living conditions in Illinois homes. Mrs. J. Marc Fowler, chairman of the federation's well-equipped home committee, announced from state headquarters here today.

More than 750 women's clubs, under the direction of the Illinois federation, will take part in the state-wide "Better Homes" movement. The program will be based on the results of a state survey of homes undertaken by the club women some time ago. Results of the survey are already being tabulated and will be announced the first week in February when the campaign will be started.

Data have been collected on the number of household appliances and the plumbing, sanitary and other living conditions in all homes throughout every city and town of any size in every county of the state.

The state-wide movement, as outlined by Mrs. Fowler, will consist of an educational program carried on through the newspapers of the state; home demonstration meetings; club and other group lectures and public exhibits such as model homes. This work will be sponsored by the clubs in all communities throughout the state.

Co-operation of the Home Economics Extension Service of the University of Illinois has been secured. The findings of the university specialists will be available for use in the campaign.

"The federation believes that the housewife's chief duty is training her children," Mrs. Fowler declared, "and the duties of housekeeping should be subordinated to the pleasures of home-making. It will be the object of our campaign to show Illinois women how this can be done through proper use of home conveniences."

The window was repaired yesterday morning.

Us, Writes Fox River

(Claiming that practically every dirt farmer along the Fox river from the McHenry dam to Wilmot, Wis., is opposed to the building of another dam between McHenry and the state line, Frank W. Hatch, well known farmer and former University of Illinois trustee, has addressed the following open letter on the subject to Senator Deneen, Representative Frank R. Reid and Illinois Representative Frank A. McCarthy. Following the publication of certain letters last week, Mr. Hatch was tendered the courtesy of space in the News that he might have opportunity of making public his views on the proposed Fox river dam. Representatives from the 11th district of Illinois, Chairman of the Flood Control Committee of that body, Hon. Frank A. McCarthy, Representative Illinois Legislature, Elgin, Illinois, and to all others who have or have not an axe to grind: Greeting:

I live now on the bank of Fox River and pose only as a plain farmer. Have lived near the Fox river all my life and a goodly portion of that time I have made a study of the ups and downs of that stream from the dam at Algonquin to Wilmot, Wis. I have in my possession a petition, asking the War Dept. to permit no dam to be built between the McHenry dam and Wilmot, Wis., and signed by practically every dirt farmer having land on or near Fox River between Grass Lake and Wilmot, ex-

STRATTON IS LAKE COUNTY'S CHOICE FOR SECRETARY OF STATE

Director of Conservation Makes Announcement of Candidacy.

Bill Stratton is a candidate for Secretary of State. He says so himself. Although Mr. Stratton has been looked upon as a logical candidate for state secretary for weeks and months and his friends throughout the state have urged him to consent to be a candidate, it was not until a few days ago that the Director of the State Department of Conservation put his okay on the plan of supporters to elect him to this important state office. Therefore Mr. Stratton is a full-fledged candidate for the Republican nomination. His hat is in the ring, alongside the derby of Hal W. Trovillion, who looms today as Stratton's most formidable contender for the office to be vacated by Louis Emmerson.

Hal Trovillion, a newspaper publisher of Herrin, in Williamson county, will have major support in the down-state counties, his friends claim.

Other candidates for the job of secretary of state are Chas. N. Vail, clerk of the supreme court, and Senator Searey of Springfield.

Stratton Born in Lake County.

To people of Lake county the life of William J. (Bill) Stratton is an open book. He was born here, in Ingleside, forty-two years ago.

GOVERNOR SMALL TELLS 1928 HIGHWAY PLANS AT ROAD HEARING SATURDAY

State Institutions
Will Raise $1,000,000
Worth of Vegetables

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 24.—With average weather conditions prevailing in Illinois during the summer of 1928 farm products having a valuation of one million dollars will be raised on the 18,000 acres farmed at twenty-six state institutions under the direction of the Department of Public Welfare.

Bids for approximately $25,000 worth of seed with which to crop this acreage are now in the hands of L. C. Becherer, state purchasing agent. This quantity is expected to meet the needs of the truck gardens operated in connection with the state institutions, furnishing all vegetables needed, with the exception of potatoes. Approximately 400 cars, or 240,000 bushels of the tubers are required for state wards.

During the season of 1927 seeds to the value of $20,000 were purchased, from which more than $900,000 worth of vegetables were raised. With increased acreage in the truck patches the amount of seed required for 1928 will be increased.

ANTIOCH WINS OVER HEIGHTS IN GREATEST PASSING GAME, 30-18

Warren Again Topples
Locals by Three-Point Margin.

Playing the best passing game of the season, the Antioch high school ckers won over Arlington Heights last Saturday night on the Heights floor, 30 to 18.

Both teams showed the effects of hard games the night before and played a slow game the first half with Antioch holding the advantage 11 to 9 at the half.

In the second half Spicer and Bernolfo got the range and connected for nine baskets between them while Antioch's defense held down the sharpshooters from Heights allowing them two baskets and five free throws to bring their total to 18.

Heights defeated Libertyville on previous night in a close battle, winning by shots from the free throw line 27 to 26. Libertyville had previously defeated Heights 32 to 14.

On Friday evening Warren continued on their way towards the conference cup when they took the locals into camp by a three point margin, 21 to 15.

It was a hard fast game with the locals sinking one more field goal than Warren but connected with only two free throws out of ten chances while Warren made good on seven out of fourteen tries.

Sees Early Building of Route 173---Many Speakers Heard

Five Thousand Hear Road
Location Talks at Zion Tabernacle.

"Route 173 is of great significance and of great importance, and its early construction will do much to promote the free interchange of traffic in this district," stated Governor Len Small before an audience of over five thousand people assembled last Saturday afternoon at Shiloh Tabernacle, Zion, to hear the Governor's speech and listen to the hearing on route location of highway 173, from Zion to Harvard. "I feel that the Department of Public Works and Buildings should push the construction of this route as rapidly as possible," were further words of encouragement uttered by the chief executive, and which statement was received with a round of applause by those who would like to see the early completion of the proposed route.

Tells of Road Construction

While the great majority of the vast throng were more interested in what the Governor is going to do about roads, particularly 173, than they are in what has been accomplished, they listened with great interest to the Governor's history of road building in Illinois, which leads the world in paved highways. Gov. Small undoubtedly deserves credit for carrying out the improved roads program as inaugurated by Ex-Governor Frank Lowden and demanded by the people of the state who voted the bonds and bought automobile licenses which provided the funds to carry on.

In his talk Gov. Small outlined his road plans for 1928, stating that he planned to put in some 1,200 miles of roads during the year.

Overseer Voliva termed Gov. Small as one of the seven wonders of the world, a "Colossus of Roads."

Twenty-three Speakers at Hearing

Following the musical program by Zion talent, and Governor Small's remarks, which the waiting world heard over the radio, the meeting was turned over to Cornelius R. Miller, director of public works and buildings, and Frank T. Sheets, chief highway engineer, who conducted the hearing on the location of route 173. Chas. M. Lamb, district engineer, of Elgin, heard the talks and made note of the petitioned routes.

Although there appear to be some differences of opinion in many places as to the location of route, the hottest arguments have developed in Antioch and Zion.

"Why should we allow the road to go through Zion?" asked Lester Swank of Waukegan, who led the attack of the Independents, declaring

Cream Tests May Vary-Butterfat Stays The Same

SCIENCE IN ANSWER TO CREAM PUZZLE

Cream Tests May Vary but Total Butterfat Produced Stays the Same.

Cream tests may vary but the total amount of butterfat produced over a period of time remains the same. This answer to another long-disputed farming problem was found in summarizing a survey made by dairy experts at the Blue Valley Creamery Institute.

A typical example is explained in the chart illustrated above. When the month's supply of 4,800 lbs. or 112 cans of milk from 10 cows was converted into 35% cream the result was 17 cans of cream, 10 cans of which were full and one can partly full. But 18 cans would be the result were the same 4,800 lbs. of milk separated differently. Just as likely as not under average farm conditions 630 lbs. of milk might be converted into 35% cream and the remaining 4,170 lbs. converted into 35% cream. Then there would be 18 full cans instead of 17 cans. However, the important point is the fact that in either case, regardless of the test on each can, the total amount of butterfat produced was the same and therefore the income would be the same. So, after all, variance in the tests of different cans of cream matters little so long as the testing is done honestly and accurately.

It is impractical for the producer to so separate his cream that it will always test exactly the same. That can only be done in milk plants and creameries where a large amount of milk and additional equipment facilitate standardization. On the farm, too, many small factors influence the test of the cream. The test of the milk may change a little. The temperature of the milk may be up or down a few degrees when going through the separator. The amount of water or skim milk used for flushing may not always be in the same proportion to the amount of cream separated. Such things oftentimes are responsible for changes in cream tests without being noticed and being small and obscure, it doesn't pay to be on the constant lookout for them and adjust the separator to overcome them and in that way always produce cream of exactly the same test. Nor is it necessary as the example above shows.

WILMOT BASKETEERS MAKE GOOD SHOWING

One of the biggest basket ball games of the year will occur Friday night at Wilmot when the strong Genoa City team invades the local gym. Genoa will undoubtedly present the largest team to play on the local floor this year. Baker, center; and Pagel, guard, are two giants who need no introduction to local fans. The Wilmot boys are trying hard to break off the signs of staleness which have been prevalent since the Waterford game. The Land of Lakes team will make a third attempt to turn back the Luther Chevroleta from Genoa. On two former occasions the Chevroleta have been victorious, but this time Captain Richards and his men are out for revenge. Thursday night the Club team engaged the Bake Bites in Kenosha.

Poultry House Should Be Thoroughly Cleaned

At some convenient time of the year, give the poultry house and yard an exceptionally thorough cleaning and disinfecting. If a dirt floor is used, dig down six or eight inches, cart the dirt to the field, and replace it with clean gravel. With a cement floor, remove the litter and loose dirt and sweep the house to remove all dirt and cobwebs. A thorough application of two parts of stock dip and three parts of kerosene to each and every corner, crack, and crevice of the floor, roof, walls, nests, drooping boards, and roosts will do more than any one thing to start the year right. An application of nit-slaked lime once a week is a worth while precaution in keeping the ground free from contamination. Have clean litter cover the floor six or eight inches deep. A sloping top to the nest will prevent an accumulation of droppings.

ANTIOCH TRAVELERS REMEMBER THEIR FRIENDS BACK HOME

Tell Experiences in Interesting Letters Sent to Friends Here.

Wiltons Shiver in Mississippi Cold.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wilton, who left here on January 2 to spend the winter months in Mississippi, were colder in that southern state by 20 degrees than were the residents of Antioch. In a letter to friends here Mr. Wilton tells how they shivered for ten or twelve days after arriving at Biloxi, with the temperature at 20 deg. above while his Antioch friends were basking in sunshine and 40 deg. F.

Mr. Wilton tells in his original way his efforts to get his money's worth out of his pullman berth for which he had paid over ten dollars, and was entirely successful, according to Mrs. Wilton who claims to have been kept awake by the snoring of her sleeping spouse.

Good Crops Every Year.

Leaving Chicago at noon on Jan. 2, the Wiltons enjoyed seeing the cornfields and live stock in central and southern Illinois. He had not much to tell on Kentucky, having slept while passing through that state, and awoke the following morning to find themselves amid hills, jack pines and negro huts of Alabama. Speaking of the pines, Mr. Wilton writes, "The land is so poor that nothing else will grow. Now and then we would see a little shack about twice the size of a cook stove, negro huts, sometimes seven or eight of them close together, and I suppose that was a village or city. I asked what they raised there as a crop and they said, 'Negroes, and sure of a crop every year.' Then I asked what they could raise that was good to eat and the answer was 'sweet potatoes and cabbage.'"

Fireplaces for Heat.

"All the houses here in Biloxi are built upon brick buttresses about two feet high. All water pipes come up to the houses and during the cold spell most all of them froze up, and although they kept the water running, most of them burst. The bench was frozen for a half mile out, but I was too cold to go out and see it. I had more clothes on than I usually wear at home. Houses here are not built for cold weather. The houses have fireplaces. We got coal to burn but all we could do was to see the blaze—all the heat went up the chimney. The fire wouldn't keep at night so we had to sleep with most of our clothes on. This is the 19th of January and we have seen very little sunshine this month.

Tourist Business Drops.
"There are only one-third of the people here that were in this place two years ago, and every other house displays a 'Rooms for Rent' sign. Of course it is harvest time for Biloxi when the northerners come. They say here it is about as cold in Florida as it is here, only about 4 or 5 degrees difference.

"There are no basements in Biloxi, as the quakes and is only three feet down."
Schools of Biloxi were closed and a boat excursion was called off on account of the unusually cold weather, according to Mr. Wilton's letter.
The Wiltons are living at 231 Bellman avenue, Biloxi, Miss.

The "Big 4" Points in Poultry House Construction

HEN MUST HAVE A HOME OF COMFORT

Some of the Things to Bear in Mind in Building
Poultry House.

The comfortable hen is likely to be the profitable hen, says the Blue Valley Creamery Institute. In listing the following essentials of hen comfort:

1. A comfortable house in which to live.
2. A restful place to sleep.
3. A cafeteria with self-service.
4. A clean, spacious, darkened place to lay eggs.

All the "Big 4" points enumerated are covered in the poultry house pictured in the illustration above, according to the Institute's poultry experts.

According to the Institute's poultry experts, a house 20x20 provides 4 square feet of floor space per hen. Dry floors, tight walls, an open front plenty of light, and a straw loft are important in maintaining healthy conditions in the poultry house. Hens need 6 to 8 inches of roosting space per hen. Good roosts can be made by planing down 2x4's (bald flat) nailed to a frame set on hinges so as to allow the roosts to be raised each day while the dropping board is being scraped clean.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"TRUTH" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, January 22.

The Golden Text was from Psalms 119:151, "Thou art near, O Lord; and all thy commandments are truth."

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Lord, who shall abide in thy tabernacle? who shall dwell in thy holy hill? He that walketh uprightly, and worketh righteousness, and speaketh the truth in his heart" (Psalms 15: 1, 2).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The truth is the centre of all religion. It commands sure entrance into the realm of Love" (p. 20).

Sunday with her brother, Wm. Grant, at the E. T. Manning home.

Hatch States Views
On Fox River Dam

cepting, of course, those farmers who have land from 4 to 6 ft. above the ordinary flow of the waters of the river and who do not care for drainage of their land.

Two articles totalling about two columns appeared in this newspaper last week and the publisher of the News has tentatively promised me not more than one column this issue to answer those articles.

Admits Little Patience With Upstarts
With a subject so wide and so interesting one must necessarily make the presentation of it rather skeleton or sketchy like, and if some gibes slip in which may seem offensive you must remember that we, who think ourselves "to the manner born" may be a little impatient with those who may with some propriety be called parvenus.

Also bear in mind that all those who have made dams or damns since the dawn of creation have had trouble and will continue to have trouble to the end of time unless they can crush the kickers.

Survey Shows Water Levels
To find out the height of the surface of water of the various lakes in what is known as the "Chain of Lakes" consult the plat of the Illinois, Wisconsin, Grayslake Quadrangle, surveyed in 1919-20 by surveyors of the U. S. Illinois and Wisconsin and published 1923. This survey shows the elevation of the surface of the water of Channel, Catherine, Marie, Bluff, Grass and Fox Lakes to be the same in each, 736 ft. above sea level. The elevation of Pistakee lake is put at 735 ft.

The Illinois Rivers and Lakes Commission was formed with the expressed duty of finding out the conditions and the uses of the Lakes and rivers of the State. In the years 1914-15 an elaborate survey was made by the surveyors employed by this commission, from Ottawa where the Fox enters the Illinois to the Wisconsin state line. This report shows on page 17, that the distance from Ottawa to the State line is 114.96 miles, that the fall is 282.60 ft., that the distance from Ottawa to the McHenry dam is 97.75 miles and the fall to the McHenry dam is 282.50 ft. or 1-10 of one foot between the McHenry dam and the State line. The State measurements are supposed to be from the bottom of the river and lakes and the U. S. measurements are taken from the surface of the water and that may explain the difference in the two.

Can't Dam Uphill (?) Stream

Hydraulic engineers estimate that in a stream it takes about 1 inch to the mile to run water. Do not the official surveys knock into a cocked hat any claim that by damming Fox River you are taking up any fall in the river. The measurements show that you will have practically the same rise of water at the state line as at the dam. The engineers in this report on page 69 make this comment: "The present dam at McHenry raises the water level beyond the Illinois-Wisconsin State line. Inasmuch as this survey stops at the State line it is impossible to say just what is the northern limit of the backwater."

Let no one of your correspondents make a stalking-horse by asserting that you can appreciably make any difference in the height of the flood waters of the Lower Mississippi Valley by damming Fox River, unless he can bring up some good fresh competent authority to support him.

In the December number of the North American Review Major General W. M. Black, U. S. A. Ret. disposes of that bug bear authoritatively to my mind. At one time Gen. Black was in command at the U. S. Government reservoir at the head of having a capacity of 93,000,000 cubic feet of impounded water for the betterment of navigation north of St. Paul in the dry summer weather and he bears witness to the fact that the effect of this immense reservoir was not felt below Lake Pepin 52 miles below St. Paul. So far as known to Gen. Black no demand has been made for the restoration of the natural reservoirs along the lower river to their original condition; and so, forsooth we along Fox River are to be made the goat.

Cites History in Dam Attempt

This Fox River Dam business has made an instructive history and in many phases furnishes a criterion by which you can judge the future of the present proposed dam should it be successfully launched. First in chronological order and as an example of individual responsibility—as compared to hiding behind the politics of a State or Nation is the fiasco of the Bishop dam at McHenry made under the old bridge in that village. Bishop was a man of force, a lawyer-industrialist. He got a charter and started to build his dam; the Vonk Bros owned a large flour mill at Wilmet, immediately protested. Bishop knew so well he was right that a witness stake was set near the Wilmet mill and the agreement was that if the waters of the river rose to the stake the Bishop dam must go out. Bishop had the stake watched, the damming went on and the waters of the river backed up and submerged the stake. Like a man, Bishop acknowledged his mistake and pulled out his dam.

There have since been three other attempts to dam Fox river at McHenry and below, and only the last one succeeded in getting a foothold under the auspices of the Fox River Navigable Waterway Association; but space at this time forbids my showing its contracts with and its lessons to be drawn for the present dam regime.

Don't Disturb Status Quo of Nature
I have a synopsis of the acts of congress, one of which was repealed, empowering the Fox River Navigable Waterways Association to build the dams. How many of the readers of this have a copy of the present $175,000 dam act? When you interfere by law with the natural surroundings of the people, disturb the status quo of nature and open the doors for political pull and favoritism every man should investigate carefully what are his guarantees of safety.

"God helps him who helps himself." Stand on your own footing. This part of the Fox River Valley is sufficiently dammed already by reason of the higher land south of Pistakee Lake. What this country needs is dredging. Pay your own bills, when you want more water, dredge and get it, do not drown the rest of us.

But do not let us submit to a charity dam.

Yours truly,
FRANK W. HATCH.

WM. S. RINEAR TODAYDied at Elgin Tuesday—
Was Once Village President of Antioch.

Funeral service for William S. Rinear will be held this afternoon from his late home in Antioch. Rev. S. B. Pollock will conduct the service at the home and the funeral will be in charge of the Sequoyia Masonic lodge, of which the deceased was a member. Burial will be in Hillside cemetery.

Mr. Rinear died at Elgin early Tuesday morning from bronchial pneumonia, and the remains were brought to Antioch Tuesday afternoon.

Was Village President

Born 75 years ago, William S. Rinear had been a life long resident of this community. For many years he was a farmer in this vicinity.

Several years ago he was president of the village of Antioch, and later was elected clerk.

The deceased had been in failing health for several years. Besides the widow he leaves a son, Levelette, of Chicago, and three sisters, including Mrs. J. R. Cribb of Antioch.

Rev. Kolkebeck, Former
Antioch Episcopal Pastor
Dies in Atchinson, Kas.

A telephone call from Chicago yesterday conveyed the news of the sudden death Tuesday of Rev. Alfred Kolkebeck at his home in Atchinson, Kansas. Death was due to heart failure.

For three years Rev. Kolkebeck was pastor of St. Ignatius' Episcopal church, Antioch, before becoming an ordained minister. Leaving Antioch about seven years ago he became assistant rector of the Church of the Atonement, Chicago, and about a year ago he accepted a pastorate at Atchinson, Kas. During his labors here the young minister made many friends.

The body is being brought to Chicago and funeral services will be held at the Church of Atonement, Kenmore and Ardmore avenues, Chicago, Friday at 10:30 a. m. Rev. Fleming will officiate. Burial will be in Oak Hill cemetery.

Rev. Kolkebeck is survived by his wife and one child, Josephine Louise. A memorial service of Commemoration will be held at St. Ignatius' church Sunday morning at 11 a. m. The Rev. H. Campbell Dixon, the present pastor of the church, who was a close and intimate friend, will preach "In Loving Memory."

County Officers Will Seek Re-election

Acting under the old primary law which fixes the date of filing petitions for offices on February 14, with the last day 17 days later, several of Lake county officers have caused their petitions to be placed in circulation during the past week. Among them are State's Attorney A. V. Smith, who will seek re-election on his record; also L. J. Wilmet, circuit clerk; L. O. Brockway, recorder; and John L. Taylor, coroner.

The sudden death of our beloved friend and leader, the Rev. A. D. Kolkebeck, who served St. Ignatius' Parish for the early eventful years, has placed our Epiphany joy under a pall of sorrow and a deep sense of loss. The morning service Sunday will be a Commemoration of the Dear Departed.

Sunday, February 5, the Rev. Dr. Randall, Secretary to be Bishop and Council of the Diocese of Chicago, will be the celebrant at the early service of the Holy Communion at 9:00 a. m. and will be the preacher at the 11:00 o'clock service.

Methodist Church Notes

The ready response of Antioch people to attend worship on the Sabbath is most gratifying to the pastor of the Methodist church. Both services were well attended last Sunday. All who came expressed themselves as well pleased with the service. The music furnished by the adult choir was greatly enjoyed and Mrs. Ziegler has promised to give more of this that God's voice may be heard in song and praise. The girls' chorus, which sang in the evening, accompanied by two instruments, offered a real treat to music lovers.

Sunday morning, throughout Rock River Conference, all pastors will exchange pulpits. The Rev. R. J. McKelvey will preach at Antioch while Rev. Krahl will fill the pulpit at Grayslake. It is hoped that many will be out to give Brother McKelvey a royal welcome.

"Till Death Do Us Part" is the sermon theme for Sunday evening. There is great interest being shown in the marriage problem these days. You have thought of it some and will want help in your thinking. Perhaps Judge Lindsey has a real solution to offer to this old problem.

The music alone will be worth your effort coming.

"Sheridan road passes through Zion and the houses are not allowed to stop on the road. If it were run through Zion the same restrictions would be placed on it and residents along the route would not be given bus service except on certain days of the week.

Three speakers from Antioch appeared before the highway commission. They were—R. C. Aht, who advocated the southern location, which would be a continuation of the Hickory road, across Antioch Hills and curving northward touches the village limits at the southwest corner, continuing northwesterly across highway 59 and connecting with Channel Lake road west of Antioch.

Frank R. King, second speaker for Antioch, championed the cause of those who want the intersection of the new highway with route 21 in or near the business section of the village. The route as proposed, would leave the Hickory road right-of-way at or near Bean Hill, curve northward and come into the village near the Soo Line station, cross Main street (Route 21) near the Antioch school, continue west and join Channel Lake road at a point west of the village.

Mayor S. E. Pollock, third speaker for Antioch dwelt on the urgent necessity for the early construction of the highway to relieve traffic conditions here.

Rex Bonser, Mgr.
What odds have you to offer on the ground hog hitting it this year?

As yet no Anti-fat remedy has been invented for the reduction of fat between the ears.

We can't please everybody. We know that, but that fact doesn't hinder us from trying.

Our yard is one of those places where you have confidence in the hash.

Running low on coal? Just make your next load Blue Diamond Arkansas Anthracite Coal. You'll like it.

Don't you kind of envy the fellow who owns his own home? Maybe you have a homeowning idea in mind. Come in and see us.

One of our local painters was in our office the other day and said it was time to make plans for the spring clean up, paper, paint, varnish, and we think he is right.

In regard to the new road No. 173, We have the latest information. Which we will tell you confidentially. Now don't bank on this too awful much.

You have heard a lot about apple sauce.

And you may consider this as such. But we know a man who lives in Antioch, who has a cousin in Zion, who said that his wife's nephew heard a traveling man say that he heard a fellow on the streets of Winthrop Harbor telling about a friend of his in Rockford, who was a cousin to the janitor at the State House, who got it from a state highway policeman, that the new road would be put just where it suited the state highway commission best.

Well, it's time now to see the ladies come out with straw hats. Have you seen any?

All people smile in the same language.

WOMAN'S CLUB MEETS AT MAPLETHORPE HOME

The regular meeting of the Woman's club was held on Monday, January 23, at the home of Mrs. Archie Maplethorpe. The assistant hostesses were: Mesdames Mathews, Grimm and Pollock. About forty-five were present. The program was furnished by Mrs. Plant of Highland Park who gave two short groups of readings and finished her program with the reading of Henry Van Dyke's "The Lost Word." Special music was furnished by the Eastern Star Glee Club of which Mrs. Maplethorpe is director and accompanist. The quiet, beautiful voice of Mrs. Plant in her readings and the pleasing selections of the Glee Club formed a very attractive combination which was appreciated by all present.

Refreshments consisting of ice cream, cake and coffee followed the program.

Out of town guests besides Mrs. Plant were Mrs. Mills, also of Highland Park and Mrs. Frank Hamlin of Lake Villa, who was accompanied by a Chicago friend, and Miss Bess Dunham of Pittsfield, Ill.

CLUB WOMEN ARE GUESTS AT FOX LAKE

Last Thursday fourteen members of the Woman's club attended the seventh birthday party of the Fox Lake Woman's club. An exceedingly pleasant afternoon was provided by the hostesses. The speaker of the afternoon was the Head of the Home Management Department of the Davis Store, Chicago. That part of the talk having to do with interior decoration was especially appreciated, due to the near approach of spring when every home manager likes to put up new draperies.

Other speakers there were Mrs. Harry S. Grade, District President, and Mrs. Munch of Lake Bluff, Lake County President.

A huge birthday cake was a pleasant feature of the afternoon.

LEGION AUXILIARY MEETS AT BIEBERTS' HOME

An American Legion Auxiliary board meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Lillian Bieberts on North Main street Thursday evening of last week. Final plans were completed for the big Valentine's night card party.

MR. AND MRS. POWLES ENTERTAIN

A party of friends were pleasantly entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Laurel Powles Tuesday evening. Winners at cards were: 1st prize, Mrs. Harry Radtke; 2nd, Mrs. Edwin Rentner; consolation, Bernice Folbrick.

MRS. WESTLAKE HOSTESS TO LADIES AID TODAY

The Methodist Ladies Aid society is meeting today at the home of Mrs. Clara Westlake on Lake street.

Fox Lake Woman's Club Entertains on Seventh Anniversary.

The Fox Lake Woman's club held an interesting meeting Thursday afternoon at White's Hotel. It was the Club's seventh birthday and they celebrated by inviting the other Lake County Clubs to meet with them. Several clubs responded. Antioch, Libertyville, Zion, Lake Bluff, Lake Forest, Lake Villa and Highland Park sending delegations to represent them. Antioch, with its president, Mrs. Osmond, and thirteen other members, had the largest delegation of all.

Mrs. Harry Grade of Highland Park, Tenth District President gave a short talk in her usual pleasing manner. She was followed by the Lake County President, Mrs. Munch, whose clever, humorous remarks on Club work were keenly enjoyed by the ladies. Mrs. Vera Brady Shipman, Home Expert at the Davis Store, Chicago, was then introduced and gave a splendid talk on Budgeting and on Harmony in Decoration and Furnishings.

The Club President, Dr. Maude S. Powell, recounted briefly the achievements of the Club in its seven years. The most outstanding accomplishments were the buying of two lots and the raising of three thousand dollars towards the building of a Community House.

The President of each of the visiting Clubs gave a brief talk as her Club's name was called by Dr. Powell. After the program a delicious lunch was served by the hostesses, Mesdames Tweed, O'Boyle, Lane, Beels and Riggs. A feature of the lunch was the huge pink and white birthday cake with its seven candles. Dwight Riggs, of Jensen's Bakery, was the creator of this delectable masterpiece.

EDWIN DROM TAKES MARRIAGE VOWS AT URBANA

How the name of Edwin Drom, Antioch man and University of Illinois student, happened to be the last in the marriage license register in Champaign county, was told recently in the "Urbana Daily Courier."

"The county clerk's force felt like inserting a couple of matrimonial ads, Saturday. There were but two blank spaces left in the marriage license register and the clerks were anxious to fill them and get out the new, shiny red book that was being held in readiness to replace the old one, but Cupid seemed strangely shy."

"Finally, toward close of the day, John Frances, 26, of Rantoul, came along and reduced the blanks to one by taking out a license to marry Nettie Sherman, 19, of Gifford, and a little later Edwin Leroy Drom, 23, of Antioch closed the book by procuring a permit to wed Ruth Esther Downs, 23, of Downs."

"So the old register goes to the vault to join its many predecessors and there to remain indefinitely."

LEGION AUXILIARY WILL GIVE CARD PARTY

to 5 and the half 10 to 9 with Warren leading.

In the third quarter McClure and Gillings hit their stride and ran the score up to 16 before the locals got started and this advantage gave them an 18 to 14 lead at the end of the quarter that the locals could not overcome although they were fighting hard to the very end.

The locals lightweight team split even on games this last week winning from Warren on Friday 8 to 6 and losing to Heights on Saturday night 23 to 19 in an overtime game.

The Heights game was one of the best played between lightweight teams this year and the locals deserved to win for they were leading most of the way only to have Heights tie it up at 18 all past before the gun and then lost out in the overtime period.

Allendale Here Friday—Two Games

The heavy weight team travels to Bensenville on Friday of this week to try and take them into camp again but will have to play much better basketball than they did when Bensenville was here.

To give the local fans a chance to see some games this week the lightweight teams will play two teams from Allendale on Friday at the high school gym.

Purse Grabber Meets Defeat on Banana Peel

New York.—Fruit caused man's downfall when Adam fell for an apple. Fruit's latest victim is Morris Weissman, who fell for a banana skin.

Weissman, forty-five, of Brooklyn, saw Mrs. Lora Kallman inspecting a window display in Grand street. He also saw her purse, containing $40.78 peeking from her coat pocket. He lifted the purse, according to the police. She seized him. He knocked her down and ran. Scores of women joined in the chase.

A block on his way, Weissman was going strong when his foot encountered a banana skin—and he skidded. Plump on his shoulder blades landed Weissman. Plump on his stomach landed several women.

Patrolman John Coulter dashed up and rescued Weissman, then turned him over to an ambulance. He was found to have 29 scratches and seven convictions for picking pockets. This makes him eligible for life membership in Sing Sing under the Baumes habitual criminal law. Magistrate Folwell in Bridge Plaza court held him for examination.

In 1921 he was appointed Chief Game Warden by Governor Small and served in that capacity until the State Department of Conservation was established by an act of the Legislature, and since then he has been director of that department.

Mr. Stratton has given a wonderfully satisfactory and efficient administration of the Department of Conservation and has been remarkably successful in handling all matters pertaining to the propagation and protection of fish and game in an executive capacity.

Mr. Stratton is a member of Waukegan Lodge 702, B. P. O. Elks. He is also a member of the Modern Woodmen of America and the Mystical Workers Order.

Mrs. Stratton is a member of the Methodist church and active in various women's organizations in their home community.

That Mr. Stratton will receive the solid support in Lake county and in his home district, goes without saying.

Two car loads of American Legion men of the local post drove to Lake Forest to attend the Council meeting held there last Friday evening.

Passing motorists came their aid and they were taken to their home. Mr. Burke's injuries consisted of bruises and a small cut on the face. ### Church Notes

Those who were privileged to hear the concert given by the Grayslake M. E. church choir on Sunday evening enjoyed it very much and appreciate the effort put forth by these people. We hope to have them again when more people may have the privilege of hearing them.

Next Sunday the pastor will speak on "Our Community," a subject in which we are all interested. Come out and help by your presence for a large group is always an inspiration to a speaker.

On Sunday evening we hope that a good number will come to see the picture "Faith for Centuries" which will be shown. No charge for admission, but an offering will be taken to defray expenses. Come to one or all of the services next Sunday.

Moist Mash Excellent for the Tardy Pullets

As soon as pullets are bodily matured they should start laying. Fully matured pullets that are not laying may often be brought into production at this time by using a moist mash. The usual laying mash may be moistened with sour skim milk, buttermilk, semi-solid buttermilk and water, dried buttermilk and water, or water fed regularly at noon or some other convenient time. It must be fed at the same time each day and should be crumbly moist, not sloppy. Let the pullets consume all they can in twenty minutes and then take the mash away and thoroughly clean the trough. As soon as production reaches a satisfactory point, the moist mash may be discontinued.

Cold Tea

Use your cold tea for watering plants. Another way to freshen up ferns is to put one teaspoonful of ammonia into a quart of water when watering them.

THE EVOLUTION OF MARINE RADIO!

A Word About the Remarkable Strides Made in the Oldest Branch of the Radio Communication Art, Since the Introduction of the Vacuum Tube.

By T. M. STEVENS

General Superintendent, Marine Department, Radio Corporation of America

Looking back, it seems that marine radio for many years led a staid, dignified and hard working sort of existence. It got along with the spark transmitter and simple receiver as best it could, even though it might well have cast an envious look landward, where transatlantic radio and radio broadcasting were enjoying the popularity which followed the latest advances in radio engineering. Yet slender threads of communication were established and maintained between ships and shore. Precious human life and precious cargoes were guarded day in and day out, in the ceaseless stream of vessels over the Seven Seas. Radiograms were hampered out from ship to shore and from shore to ship, to the best ability of the radio operator and at the pleasure of the elements. Then, in moments of grave emergency, marine radio, with such equipment as it had, never failed to rise to the occasion, for there is none braver than "Sparks," the radio operator aboard ocean greyhound or wallowing freighter.

In 1920, the Radio Corporation of America found it necessary to establish a system of coastal stations in order to render prompt and efficient public radio telegraphic service to and from ships. Two-kilowatt stations were installed at New York and Cape Cod. Other spark stations were then in operation, or about to be placed in service, at Cape May, N. J.; Babylon, L. I.; Brooklyn, New London, Newport, Siasconset, Boston, and Bar Harbor. Shortly after, spark stations were established at East Hampton, L. I., and Rockport, Me. Thus we see that there were no less than twelve spark stations in operation along the coast, from Cape May to Bar Harbor. All were operating on only two wavelengths, 600 to 450 meters. Approximately 90 per cent of the traffic to and from ships was handled on these waves. One may well imagine the bedlam of interference to radio telegraphic service caused by so many stations, with broadly tuned spark transmitters, working on two waves!

Tower of Babel Banished

With the advent of broadcasting and its rapidly growing popularity, broadcasters immediately took up channels on both sides of the 450-meter channel of marine radio, and crowded in more and more as broadcasting spread out with its ever-growing list of stations.

A veritable Tower of Babel appeared at hand, while radio broadcasters, for their part, were none too gentle in their comments on the dot-dash noises of marine radio which overflowed the 450 and the 600-meter channels, and broke into their midst at the most inopportune moments. But ship operators held a similar opinion of broadcasting programs, which broke up their traffic, so that honors were about equally divided.

It was in these trying times that necessity, as the novelist would have it, gave birth to the vacuum tube transmitter for radio telegraphic work. The first transmitter of this type for commercial telegraphic use in this country was installed at Chatham, Mass. It was operated on 2,200 meters, and remotely controlled from the receiving station at Chatham, some 55 miles away. A few of the transatlantic passenger vessels were by this time equipped with either arc or tube transmitting equipment for continuous-wave operation. In short order the shipboard operators, as well as those at Chatham, were astounded at the remarkable distances covered with the continuous-wave vacuum-tube transmitters. The larger ships began to use the long-wave channel almost exclusively for their traffic, and it became necessary to provide additional receiving channels at the Chatham station.

Aid for the Smaller Ships

It will therefore be noted that the use of CW (continuous-wave) vacuum-tube transmitters not only increased the range of marine communications but greatly facilitated the movement of traffic, due to the possibilities in multiplex operation. Also, a heavy load was removed from the shorter wavelengths, aiding the smaller ships in clearing their traffic.

The increased range also made unnecessary the further operation of numerous stations along the Atlantic Coast. The Bar Harbor station practically ceased commercial activities; stations at Rockland, Me.; Newport, Siasconset, New London, Babylon, and Cape Cod were closed.

Elimination of Spark Stations

As the radio broadcasting activities rapidly expanded the elimination of spark stations on land was pushed with all possible speed. The 5-kw spark transmitter at Bush Terminal gave way to a tube transmitter. The Chatham Station was expanded by the addition of two 5-kw long-wave transmitters, installed at Marlon, and two shortwave transmitters at the station itself. The Tuckerston station, replacing Cape May, used a 5-kw vacuum tube transmitter. A 1-kw set replaced the 5-kw spark at Boston. The same type set replaced spark equipment at Galveston. Apparatus similar to that of Chatham replaced spark sets at San Francisco, and a special CW set was installed at Los Angeles. The Chicago coastal station for the Great Lakes was provided with tube equipment similar to that at Galveston and New York. And thus all RCA coastal stations did away with spark transmitters, and their former interference with broadcast entertainment. The Army, the Navy and the Coast Guard, during the past year, have also made remarkable progress in eliminating spark interference, so as to round out a nearly ideal condition.

Let me add, however, that the coastal or land station end has been only one part of the huge task of bringing marine radio up to the very peak of present-day efficiency. There has remained the major part of equipping and re-equipping the many ships with the vacuum tube apparatus, so that the advantages of continuous-wave transmission might be enjoyed at both ends. It has been no easy matter to discard the hundreds upon hundreds of spark and other obsolete transmitters in use on ships, in favor of the new tube sets. Engineers of the Radio Corporation of America, the General Electric Company and the Westinghouse Company have shown no little ingenuity in converting existing spark sets into tube transmitters.

Vacuum Tube Transmission Wins
The work of equipping and re-equipping in the change from spark to vacuum tube has been going on steadily during the past two years. Already several hundred ships are equipped with vacuum tube apparatus or will be very shortly. Spark signals are becoming a rarity, except for the occasional small foreign ship which comes into an American port and proceeds to squat on the 450-meter or 600-meter channels in unloading its traffic amid a world of broadcast entertainment and also a few coastal stations still operating with spark transmitters.

Vacuum tube transmission has more than justified the fondest expectations. With the vast increase in distances spanned, ships are now keeping in touch with the land stations on the transatlantic course, even beyond the half-way mark across the ocean. Coast-wise ships have little difficulty in maintaining contact with Tuckerston, even to the Caribbean, and beyond. The static-infested Gulf of Mexico finds vacuum tube transmitters getting through hundreds of miles of space in broad daylight, with precision and certainty.

Vacuum Tube Technique

But the climax of vacuum tube technique is to be found at the very elbow of Cape Cod, where the Chatham station stands guard over the transatlantic shipping. Here the visitor finds a brick building, alongside a large hotel, and several brick dwellings to accommodate the station crew. Upon entering the building, the visitor is confronted with the busiest scene imaginable, both to the eye and to the ear. There are rows upon rows of operating tables, some for the radio circuits that extend out to ships at sea, and others for the telegraph lines stretching to the distant main traffic office in New York City, and to the traffic office in Boston. And the scene is most suggestive of a busy telephone central. The operators are seated before the receivers—13 tube superheterodyne sets, working on the Beverage Wave Antenna, some mile and a half long! A supervisor, listening in to all incoming traffic, assigns each operator to a given ship, whereupon the operator tunes in and receives the traffic, pounding away the Radiograms on his typewriter just as fast as the distant ship operator can "shoot" them in. When the Chatham operator's turn comes to "talk," he does so through the longwave transmitter, of which there are two, at Marlon, 55 miles away, via remote control wires or through one of the shortwave marine transmitters in a nearby building. A flip of a switch on the operating table throws in the desired transmitter just when it is needed.

That, in brief, is a picture of marine radio today. Surely the oldest branch of radio communication has kept up with the rapid march of radio progress and has made every effort to keep off the toes of its companion, radio broadcasting.

POULTRY

SAVE LEGUME HAY FOR WINTER FEED

Save about six pounds of good legume hay for every bird in your poultry flock for use this winter.

For legume hay, especially if it is leafy and of good quality, makes an excellent winter substitute for the succulent green food hens like so well during the summer. Feeding trials at the Ohio agricultural experiment station, Wooster, have demonstrated the truth of this, according to the experimenters, D. C. Kennard and R. M. Butcher.

Alfalfa, red clover, and soy bean hays appear to be about equally valuable. Regardless of the kind, it is necessary that the hay be made of the immature plant, so as to carry a large proportion of leafy material, especially valuable for chickens.

The hay must be carefully cured without getting wet, the scientists suggest, so that it will hold its bright green color. This insures retention of its valuable water-soluble constituents. Usually the second or third cutting of alfalfa and clover is best. Soy bean hay is best cut when the seeds are just beginning to form in the pods.

Perhaps the best way to feed hay to poultry is to cut it in half-inch lengths. It can then be put into a wire-meshing basket feeder and kept before the birds all the time. Uncut hay may be put into feeding racks made of plaster lath placed vertically 2 inches apart. Still another way is to tie the hay in a bundle and suspend it from the ceiling so as to be 5 or 6 inches from the floor.

Examine Bands on Wings and Legs of Chickens

Don't forget the pedigree stock these days. They are your best chicks. Examine the legbands and wingbands to see that they are not cutting into the flesh and that none of the bands have worked loose and are likely to be lost.

Some breeders use legbands for the first few weeks of the chicks' lives and later transfer these bands to the wings. If this practice is followed on your farm, see that this rebanding time has not gone too long and that the bands are not cutting into the shanks. If it is not convenient to change these bands to the wings just now, loosen them enough so the legs will not be injured and the bands will not drop off.

Other breeders put the bands right in the wings when the chicks are hatched. Catch up these chicks and look over the condition of these wings and bands. They may have been pinched too tightly at the start or for some reason may be partly torn out. Many of these legs may have to be loosened and some may have to be tightened. Make a practice of examining the condition of the bands every three weeks.

Dynamites His Head to Commit Suicide

Hazleton, Pa. — Tying two sticks of dynamite about his head and setting them off, Michael Billie, forty-eight, a widower of Dillion, a mining village near here, committed suicide recently.

He was seen with the dynamite but it was thought he had obtained the explosive to take to the mines when he went the other day. Neighbors said Billie had acted queer for some time. The suicide occurred in his home, which was considerably damaged.

KILLED BY GUN HE OVERLOOKED

Robber Shoots Policeman After He Is Searched.

New York.—A giant policeman is dead because he overlooked a pistol on a pair of young hoodlump suspects whom he had captured after the robbery of two women in a cemetery tomb in Queens.

Benjamin Rader a two-term burglar, who is alleged to have admitted complicity in the killing, was under arrest charged with murder while authorities sought his companion in connection with the death of Patrolman Henry Meyers, 6 feet, 6 inches tall, who died on his day off and with no chance to use the service revolver which he carried in his civilian clothes in accordance with the police code.

Summoned by motorists, whose attention was attracted to the tomb by the women's screams, Meyers turned on automobile shopping tour with his wife into a chase for the hoodlump men, and within a few minutes found the suspects a short distance from the cemetery.

After searching the men for weapons, Meyers started back to the tomb when he was shot three times in the back. Both young men fled, but Rader was found behind bushes in a park nearby. Meyers lived two hours and a half after he was wounded. Mrs. Frances Lewis and Mrs. Flor ence Novak, residents of Manhattan, were praying in the tomb in Bethlehem cemetery when the hoodlump men entered and robbed them of $2,057 in cash and jewelry.

Locked in School Vault, Boy Rescued by Police

Hackensack, N. J.—For more than two hours Albert Altwater, thirteen years old, was locked in a sealed vault here while police and firemen struggled to get him out.

Albert and a playmate, Arnold Bruckner, slipped into an unfinished addition to the public school where the board of education was constructing its new offices. At one end was a vault, about seven feet high. The door was open and Albert walked in. Arnold shut the door just for fun.

When the boy tried to open the door again he found it was locked and there was no doorknob to grip. Arnold called the police. They in turn had to call the fire department. Firemen cut a small hole in the vault to give Albert air. Meanwhile, a key was obtained to open the door.

40 MOTOR CARS IN U. S. TO EVERY MILE OF IMPROVED ROAD

More Floor Space Needed, Says Chicago Motor Club President.

"There were 40 motor vehicles registered in the United States in 1927 to every mile of improved highway of every type," says Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor Club.

The comparative figure for 1926 was 34 motor vehicles to every mile of improved highway of every type. The comparative figure for 1918 was 17 motor vehicles to every mile of improved highway, showing in the ten-year period an increase of 130 per cent in the number of motor units to every mile of improved highway.

"With the maximum load on the improved highways in 1927, each car would have had a space of only 44 yards in which to operate as compared with 52 yards in 1926, and 103 yards in 1918.

"These figures, gathered by the American Automobile Association disclose the gradual contraction of the available space for car operation on the improved highways of the country, and are based on the 1927 registration of 23,125,000 motor vehicles and a total of 575,000 miles of improved highways, constituting a situation on which national attention must be kept constantly focused if we want to keep car saturation at an acceptable level, and if highway traffic is to move with a reasonable degree of dispatch and safety."

Mr. Hayes declares that the time has come to bring more of the nation's secondary highways forward for the application of improvement programs to them as a means of increasing floor space.

Big Advantage to Have Youngsters Roost Early

Early roosting does not cause crooked breast bones, as was formerly thought by many. This is caused by poor bone development due to a deficiency in those elements that are necessary for strong bones. A proper mineral supply, plenty of direct sunlight, or the use of cod liver oil will prevent this condition.

It is to the poultry keeper's advantage to get young stock to roost as early as possible, for if they do not get this habit, it is difficult to teach them when they are put in the laying house. The use of small roosts in the brooder house when chicks are only four or five weeks old will help to start this habit early. These roosts can be hung to the walls of the brooder house about a foot from the floor. They may be raised during the day to give the chicks full benefit of the floor space, and lowered to the floor in the evening. By having these roosts on all sides of the house, there will be sufficient room for the chicks to spread out and they will all be equidistant from the brooder stove, providing the stove is in the center of the house.

For Turkey Fattening Ration Use Much Grain

The North Dakota experiment station gives a good home mixed turkey ration which consists of 100 pounds ground barley, 100 pounds ground oats, 100 pounds ground wheat and 50 pounds of meat scraps. If this ration is kept before the turkeys in a self-feeder at all times with a feeding of grain at night, it will do much toward increasing the returns at market time. Milk makes a fine food, and if not available, meat scraps, tankage or dried buttermilk are fine protein foods. The animal protein fits in best with other feeds at the rate of 15 per cent to 25 per cent of ground feeds.

Cull Flock Closely

Culling the flock closely will not only save feed and labor, but it will also help to remove crowded conditions that often prevail on account of the growing young flock. The disposal of cockerels is often advisable for a similar reason. It is better to keep a small flock of birds that pay their way than to keep a large flock in which there are a lot of drones that eat up the profit made by good birds. Birds that should be culled are sure to show a loss in the future.

Laying Supplements

The best supplement to any ration is direct sunlight and green feed, according to tests conducted by the Ohio experiment station. Successful feeding for egg production depended largely upon the use during late fall and winter of alfalfa, clover, soy bean hay and cod liver oil as supplements. Grains and their by-products and packing house by-products do not usually make a complete ration. The legume hays improved the hatchability of eggs.

Watering Flowers

Ferns and other plants in window boxes are often ruined by watering too much. They should be watered regularly but not excessively.

STATE CAPITOL ITEMS

Illinois is far and away in advance of all other states in the union in her total mileage of concrete and brick roads. While other states have a greater total of improved road, including sand, clay, shale, graded and drained highway, Illinois' total far outstrips her sister states as to cement roads.

Illinois' total cement and brick roads is 4,494.66 miles, the brick roads in Illinois, as well as all other states, being only a small part of the total. Second comes Pennsylvania with 2,731.30 miles. Following these two leaders comes North Carolina, 1,817 miles; California, 1,559.10; New York, 1,479.50; Michigan, 1,454.70; Ohio, 1,434.05; Wisconsin, 1,253.70; Missouri, 1,319; and Maryland, 1,017.33.

All states of the union are preparing to push construction work during the coming year with a corresponding increase in their totals of improved highways.

Motorists, now, when they tour over the country's 3,001,825 miles of highways find that 133,616.20 miles are of the improved type while the entire nation has 30,457.25 miles of concrete and brick roads.

Mrs. Katharine Hancock Goode, member of the house of representatives from the fifth senatorial district and a prominent Illinois club woman, died at her home in Chicago a few days ago. She had been ill for several months.

Mrs. Goode, Republican, was twice elected to the general assembly and was active in behalf of a number of bills in which women of the state were interested. She became ill during the latter part of the last regular session and returned to her home, unable to participate in the closing scenes of the gathering. She was the wife of Dr. J. Paul Goode, of the faculty of the University of Chicago.

Mrs. Goode is the eighth member of the general assembly who has died since the convening of the last regular session of the house of representatives more than a year ago.

Illinois produced twenty million tons less coal during 1927 than she did during 1926 a report just issued by A. D. Lewis, director of mines and minerals, shows. This large reduction in the production of coal was attributed to the prolonged coal strike in 1927. The total output during the last year was 44,814,776 as compared with 67,836,441 in 1926. The year report shows 14,501 persons injured and 101 persons killed.

Attorney General Oscar E. Carlstrom has given an opinion to State's Attorney Leslie Wilhoit of Alexander county, in which he holds that $6,909 in a state aid road fund obtained in a bond issue can be used in building a highway on the state aid road system. However, the opinion says, the money cannot be used if the road is not a part of the state aid system.

The house of representatives and the senate of the state of Illinois were just as far from deciding the state primary question as they ever were when they reconvened a few days ago after a four-day recess. With the various forces and factions standing their ground, the problem of whether Illinois will have an April or a September primary election hangs in the balance. Governor Small has not receded from his original belief that there should be an April primary so that the people of the state may express themselves on the presidential delegates.

A number of people in close touch with the situation predict that no primary will pass at the present season, and the possibility of another call for a special session at a later date. The term "deadlock" has been applied to the present situation.

Election judges and clerks of downstate Illinois cities which have election commissions will receive an increase in salary from $6 to $8 a day, according to an amendment just adopted in the house of representatives.

The increase was provided for in an amendment offered by Representative T. J. Sullivan, Springfield. Representative Frank Holton, East St. Louis, moved to table the amendment, but his motion was voted down and the bill was advanced on the calendar. The decision to grant the raise came during the consideration of a number of minor bills which have to do with primary elections.

"Illinois Forestry" was the subject of an illustrated lecture which was delivered recently by Chief Forester R. B. Miller of the state department of conservation, before the forestry class of the Chicago Woman's Club, 410 South Michigan Avenue.

Accompanying his lectures on "Illinois Forestry" with special lantern slides, Mr. Miller told of the gradual depletion of the lumber supply in the United States, and of the country-wide movement to check the destruction by fire and improper lumbering.

Plans are rapidly nearing completion for the annual observance of Abraham Lincoln's birthday by the Lincoln Centennial association, the program to be held in the afternoon of Saturday, February 11. The program will get under way at 2:30 o'clock at a meeting to be held in the circuit court, to which the public is invited to attend. The second session, to be opened with a banquet, will be held at 7:30 p. m. at the ball room of the Hotel Abraham Lincoln. About 250 persons are expected to attend this meeting for which a number of notable speakers have been secured.

Crime in Chicago is on the decrease, Henry Barrett Chamberlain, operating director of the Chicago Crime Commission, stated in his annual report recently.

"Chicago is the only city which dared to drag the facts of crime into the open," Chamberlain said. "It is a fact that there is an actual decrease in crime in Chicago notwithstanding the amazing truth that the population has increased during the last seven years in excess of 1,000,000 people."

Bellevue house, Chicago another landmark of importance in connection with the history of Abraham Lincoln, has passed out of existence, according to word just received.

Founded in 1851, the hotel was famous as the Chicago headquarters of a struggling country lawyer from Springfield, Abraham Lincoln. Jenny Lind sang from the balcony years ago and it was in this hotel, it is said that Mary Todd Lincoln sought refuge after the fire of 1871.

Illinois has more than 7,500 churches of all faiths, with an actual membership of more than a million and adherents of over four million.

Coccioidosis Symptoms

Weakness, cuffed feathers, drooping, and sometimes bloody droppings, are outward symptoms of coccioidosis. Perform a post-mortem and examine the intestines. If the blind pouches are enlarged and filled with a firm cheesy material, that is an additional symptom of coccioidosis. Some feeding experiments have proven that a diet of nothing but buttermilk may be helpful in controlling this disease. A practical method is to kill all badly diseased chicks.

New York—A perfect record was attained by "Mike" Luscovitch this 21-year-old follower of the open road, with the assistance of Magistrate Bouras in Morrisania court. "Mike" was charged with vagrancy.

After telling the court that his home was in the forty-eight states of the Union and that he could not remember where or when he last worked, "Mike" said he had been arrested in every state but New York. He seemed crestfallen that his record was not complete. Magistrate Bouras said:

"We have some nice jails here. I'll give you six months in the work house."

"Mike" replied: "I'm used to it, judge."

Dazed by Inheritance, Killed by Motor Car

Shanghai—All of his life Wong-Lung worked hard as a wharf coolie in Canton. Recently there came wonderful news. A relative had died in Shanghai. Wong had inherited an unheard-of wealth—more than $1,000.

Fortune seemed to smile on Wong but fate took a hand in the game. All matters pertaining to the inheritance were settled a few days later at the Provisional court. That same day the blissful Wong was to receive the money that spelled a life of ease for him and his large family.

Outside the Provisional court, Wong, in a daze, walked into the path of a motor car driven by Alex Moskowitz, a Russian. At St. Luke's hospital an hour later he died from a fractured skull and internal injuries.

Believe It Or Not

"Boy Saves Father From Bull"—Headline. A son like that would be worth having around during a political campaign.

Some fellows who think they ought to be elected to office display much originality of thought.

While Governor Small was in Zion last Saturday a son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Taylor and the parents christened him Len Small Taylor.

David Templeton Smiley, twelve years county judge of McHenry county, and one of the speakers with the Harvard delegation at the Zion road hearing last Saturday, told a story about a Scotchman who ate salted peanuts on the way to a friend's house to get a drink of water.

Alfonse: "Don't you enjoy those slow motion pictures of horse races?" Tony: "No, they remind me too much of the horse I always bet on."

Some folks make you feel at home; others make you wish you were.—Tony's Scrapbook.

Ample statistics have been published from time to time to demonstrate that among businesses which fail, the vast majority are those which have refused to avail themselves of the benefit of advertising.

A check of the records of the Federal bankruptcy courts in Los Angeles has just disclosed that 92 per cent of all the firms which failed last year were non-advertisers. The average for 32 cities covered by a survey was 83 per cent of failures occurring among concerns which did not advertise. In Troy, N. Y., not a single advertising firm failed.

There is a significant hint in these figures for the business man who will profit by it.

The Guide: "Look at that half-rusted castle. It might be at least eight hundred years old. Believe me, lady, they don't build such ancient castles nowadays."

How Druggist Lost a Friend

Country Cousin: "I suppose the motto of you women in New York is, eat, drink and be merry." City Cousin: "No, dear; it is, eat, wink, but be wary."

A lot of unheeded advice is given, the most futile being that offered young folks concerning marriage.

Possibly we might have more great men in future if someone would build log cabins for them to be born in.

Chicago Man Dies In Accident Here At Pavement Gap

would have been able to control his machine.
Investigation yesterday revealed the fact that there are signs along the concrete warning autoists of the detour, and that persons who traveled the detour did so at their own risk. Taubensee testified that he did not see the signs.

Deputy Huber arrived at the scene of the accident within a few minutes after it had occurred. The deputy summoned Dr. Warriner and the physician upon examination pronounced Kriebach dead. His hip and several ribs had been crushed. The body was removed to the Strang undertaking home at Antioch and Coroner John L. Taylor notified.

Following the inquest here yesterday the body of Kriebach was taken to Chicago by his sons.

Own Cottages at Fox Lake
Taubensee and Kriebach had left Chicago at 11:00 Tuesday for Fox Lake to look after their summer cottages there. Taubensee testified at the inquest. Reports of house-breaking in Fox Lake vicinity had reached them and they planned the trip Tuesday to inspect their premises there. On their way home they had missed the Lake Villa road and were headed for Antioch when the unfortunate accident occurred.

INSURANCE plus SERVICE plus SETTLEMENTS

Our offices are carrying insurance coverage in excess of thirteen million five hundred thousand dollars as an evidence of confidence placed in us by thousands of customers whose homes, summer homes, automobiles, plate glass and securities are located in and around Antioch, and we are placing all coverage in seven of the largest companies doing business in the states of Illinois and Wisconsin, some of whom we have represented for the past thirty-three years.

We are giving, and have made it a point to give, immediate attention, regardless of weather conditions, or business, to the adjustments of losses incurred, securing honorable settlements and satisfied customers.

In placing your insurance locally with an agency writing this volume of business you are guaranteed quick and honorable settlements, from companies that are under state supervision.

We especially wish to state that we will meet any foreign mutual insurance company, most of which are doing business without state supervision, considering service rendered.

Should your plate glass window break, we can make replacement within four days.
